We would like to express our sincere gratitude to the three reviewers and the Assistant Editor for their careful, line-by-line evaluation of our manuscript. Their detailed and constructive comments — on the spectral analysis of the truncated matrix, the justification of the fluctuationless substitution, the error and convergence analysis, the computational cost, and the numerical experiments — substantially improved both the rigour and the clarity of the paper. The review process was thorough, fair, and genuinely helpful, and we are grateful to WSEAS Transactions on Mathematics for the professional and constructive handling of our submission.
